Propaganda Is Most Dangerous When Clever

Glenn A. Green of the Arkansas Free Enterprise association, Little Rock, made a speech before the Hope Kiwanis Club yesterday which is being widely quoted around town today. I did not hear the speech but have Mr. Green's complete text on my desk.

His talk was on Communist efforts to penetrate and overthrow American business and government. Most of it was an exposure of Communist propaganda methods and the scope and cleverness of these is amazing.

Mr. Green told about the Hollywood motion picture "The Best Years of Our Lives," which has played in Hope. This is an outstanding film production. But consider this subtle touch:

Five business men were portrayed at different points in the picture, said Mr. Green. One was a man who had made money in a construction work during the war; the way he was portrayed you just didn't like him. The next business man was a banker. "He was a heel," another was manager of a drugstore where the hero was to work. "This business man was the lowest kind of rat."

"And so on," continues Mr. Green. "I proved to my wife's satisfaction that all five business men in the only business men characters in the movie—were no good. You resented them and yet you did so almost without being aware of it."

And here is Mr. Green's punch-line: "Virtually all of the Hollywood writers belong to the Screen Writers Guild; the scripts for nearly all motion pictures come from these writers. Most of them call themselves 'liberals.' But a great many of them are secretly card-carrying Communist conspirators; many others are fuzzy-minded Socialists and fellow travelers."

There's a story of a great exposure. The irony of it is that the Hollywood producers who hire these writers are themselves capitalists with a billion-dollar stake in American business. But the writers are organized and sometimes assisted by government and threaten other strikes or lawsuits if interfered with.

This is the problem that America is now being made aware of, with the Hollywood picture-makers in a fight to keep propaganda out of the nation's entertainment.

GOP Policy Leaders Selected

Washington, April 13 —(P)—Rep. Joseph W. Martin (R-Mass.) named three house members today to serve on the Republican national policy committee. Capitol Hill Republicans have now reached agreement with GOP Chairman Hugh D. Scott, Jr., on 1950 campaign strategy.

Martin, the party's leader in the house, picked Reps. Leonard Hall of New York, Francis Case of South Dakota and Donald L. Jackson of California for the policy committee, set up by the GOP national committee at its January meeting in Omaha.

Senate members will be Owen Brewster of Maine, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., of Massachusetts and Hugh Butler of Nebraska.

Candidates are that Republican governors will pick Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey, Frank Carlson of Kansas and either Arthur B. Langlie of Washington or some other far westerner for their representation on the group.

The moves to set the GOP vote drive organization included an informal agreement between the Scotts of the senate, house and national committees. They came in the wake of generally favorable political reaction to President Truman's two informal visits to Capitol Hill yesterday.

In one of these Mr. Truman lunched with senators of both parties in a chat, 475-word speech to the senate, he expressed hope that history will judge as "not in vain" his "level best" efforts to serve the American people.

Three hours later Mr. Truman went back to Capitol Hill for a visit in the office of House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.). It was from Rayburn's office, almost to the hour four years earlier, that Mr. Truman was called to the White House to learn of the death of President Roosevelt.

The president's visit to his old friends of the senate was an obvious part of the administration's new efforts to create better feeling between the White House and congress.

In fact, when Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, chairman of the GOP policy committee, chatted with the president at the luncheon table the talk was all about the repairs on the White House. Taft spent four summers there when his father was president.

Taft told a reporter that he thought it "a good thing" for the president to be around with the senators. But he added that he doesn't think social visits "change anybody's mind about legislation."

The president had a brief word for reporters and the senators who milled around in committee room off the senate floor to shake his hand.

When Senator Richard Russell (D-Ga.) got up to give the president his seat, Mr. Truman cracked: "Don't do that, I'm not that old a man."

Bloodhounds have been known to follow a trail more than four days.

Foreign Aid Funds Can Be Cut—Hoffman

Washington, April 13 —(P)—Paul G. Hoffman said today it is "entirely possible" that the cost of the new foreign aid program can be cut below the $5,580,000,000 asked by the administration.

The savings may come from drops in the prices of goods shipped abroad with Economic Cooperation Administration money, the Marshall plan chief told a news conference. He added in a statement:

"If such savings, or any savings, can be affected without impairing the present momentum of recovery, they will be welcomed by ECA."

Certain price changes were anticipated but it is entirely possible that a recalculation might disclose savings that can be made as a result of further changes in price."

Senate and house passage of bills to keep the recovery program going for the next 15 months was acclaimed by Hoffman as "highly gratifying."

The senate authorized the $5,580,000,000 asked by ECA. The house figure is $200,000,000 smaller. Both house and senate leaders were confident, however, that the difference can be ironed out quickly.

Hoffman termed the action of congress "an eminently practical message of good will going out to a troubled world at a most propitious time." He referred to the fact that "this is Holy Week and Easter is just ahead."

"I can think of no better Easter message that would be sent to Europe than the news that congress has approved the European Recovery Program," Hoffman added.

Hoffman said ECA is not making the mistake of "confusing authorizations with appropriations."

"We know that it is the responsibility of the appropriations committee to make the most searching inquiry of our proposed program," he said.

Hoffman's statement came as a senate-house committee started work on compromising the differences in the authorization bills.

Transcontinental Lover Admits Embezzlement of $28,000 to Support His Two Wives

By WILLIAM J. FOX
Memphis, Tenn., April 13 —(UP)—David Prager, 29-year-old coal company cashier, who police say supported two wives, was in custody today accused of embezzling $28,000.

Prager, a husky, curly-haired native of New York City, reportedly also spent large sums of money "entertaining" two local basketball teams.

Detectives arrested the $200-a-month coach Monday as he stepped off a California plane after a visit to the second of his two wives.

Police said Prager had been a flying Romeo, spending week days with the wife and child here and week-ends in Los Angeles with another wife.

Chief of Detectives M. A. Hinds said Prager was arrested on a state warrant charging embezzlement, but had not been docketed for trial.

Prager admitted the embezzlement, police said, but set the figure at $19,000 instead of the $27,762 which the Berlin-Hunt Coal company head discovered was missing.

In a written confession, Prager said he began to take money from his employer four or five months after the began work in February 1948. He said he used the funds to support his two wives.

Runaway Gas Truck Burns, Driver Dies

Newhall, Cal., April 13 —(UP)—A runaway truck loaded with 4,000 gallons of gasoline roared five miles down a California highway today, reaching a 100-mile-an-hour speed before it crashed and burned.

The driver, who stuck with the truck and tried desperately to stop it was killed in the crash.

Another truck driver, Ralph Harris, 31, Houston, Tex., was burned and is not expected to live, and a highway patrolman was badly burned in rescuing him.

The brakes on the huge gasoline truck burned out at the top of a five-mile grade three miles North of Castaic, Cal., on the ridge route, main highway between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Highway Patrolmen Oles Larsen and H. E. Dewitt said they passed the truck there and saw Driver Hollie J. Glover, 43, Pomona, fighting the wheel and trying to run the truck into the bank.

"We stayed ahead of him and he kept gaining speed," Dewitt said. "When he hit 60 miles an hour we turned on the siren and cleared a patch for him."

"We were going 90 miles an hour and the truck was gaining on us. It was doing over 100 miles an hour when it shot past us. That was about three-quarters of the way down the grade at a sharp curve."

Glover was still fighting to force the truck into the bank. He almost made the turn. But the truck shot up the bank, the trailer came off, turned over, broke open and spilled gas all over the highway."

U. S. Tribunal Nears End of German Trials

Nuernberg, April 13 —(UP)—Nine of Adolf Hitler's policy-makers or executives were convicted today of plundering the material resources and cultural treasures of countries overrun by the Nazis.

An American tribunal trying 21 Nazi diplomats or government officials neared the end of its 800-page verdict on eight charges of war criminality.

Eighteen Germans had been convicted in the last three days on one or more of the eight charges. Two were found innocent and freed.

Those convicted on the plundering charge, in addition to other convictions, were:

Hans Kohler, chief of armaments and war production—guilty of plundering resources and cultural treasures of countries overrun by the Nazis.

Karl Basch, chairman of the board of directors of the Dresdner bank—guilty of plundering funds and equipment from invaded countries.

Wilhelm Keppler, Hitler economic adviser—guilty of aiding in the seizure of Jewish-owned property in Eastern Europe. He was convicted earlier of waging aggressive war and committing crimes against the Jews.

Hans Lamm, chief of Hitler's Reichschancellery—guilty of ruthless plundering in Russia and looting art treasures elsewhere in occupied Europe. He was convicted earlier of waging aggressive war, approving the slaying of Allied airmen shot down in Germany and crimes against the Jews.

Wilhelm Stuckhart, state secretary in the interior ministry—guilty of the "economic spoliation" of occupied territories. He was convicted earlier of helping draft anti-Jewish legislation.

Walter Darre, minister of agriculture—guilty of looting livestock and agricultural products from invaded countries. He was convicted earlier of crimes against the Jews.

Paul Koerner, deputy to Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering—guilty of looting industrial equipment from Russia. He was convicted earlier of waging aggressive war.

Social Security Agent to Be in Hope on April 19

A representative from the Texas Social Security Administration Office will be in Hope on Tuesday, April 19, at 2 p.m. You may contact him at the Arkansas Employment Office.

Delay in filing a claim for old age and survivors insurance benefits can cost the claimant money. Upon the death of the insured wage earner, his widow and children or his dependent parents are eligible for monthly or lump-sum insurance payments if they meet certain requirements. If they earn or have no family, then a lump-sum may be paid to the person who paid funeral expenses. Delay in filing claims may result in the loss of several monthly checks, especially among survivors who have not been informed about their rights.

After they fall asleep, let the Secretary of State know.

Return Government to People McMath Tells Missippians

Indianola, Miss., April 13 —(UP)—Gov. Sid McMath of Arkansas believes states would be unworried by federal controls if they assumed their rightful responsibilities.

He addressed Missippians last night at the Indianola American Legion post.

McMath expressed concern for the trend to centralize authority in Washington and then added:

"When the states give their citizens what they have a right to expect, then the threat of federal control will cease."

The Arkansas governor said he had been identified with Truman Democrats and the "Thurmond (State's Rights) Democrats." But he said he was for either side that would return government to the people.

Defense Setup Blasted By Air Force

Washington, April 13 —(P)—The air force today blasted the existing national defense setup as inadequate and expensive.

Secretary of Air Symington, appearing at a closed-door session of the senate armed services committee Thursday, declared the present unification law "has not worked satisfactorily."

Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) made the testimony public today.

"We have tried out this half-measure organization and there is unanimous agreement that it is inadequate," Symington said.

He added that former Secretary of Defense Forrestal "has constantly been a referee of three boys as he tried to operate his job."

Like Secretary of the Army Royal, who said much the same thing in an open session of the committee yesterday, Symington said the civilian defense chief will be able to ride herd on the quarreling army, navy and air force unless he is given much greater power.

Such authority, he said, "could save billions annually."

That could be accomplished, Symington added, by operating the defense department "from a freestart as against trying to haul together three independent units," each with its own training, procurement and the like.

When such a merger of functions was adopted in the San Francisco defense region, he said, it ended a "triplication in warehousing, in transportation, and so forth."

Just as Royal did, Symington urged unifying the civilian heads of the army, navy and air force from their present ranks to the position of undersecretaries.

Both officials went considerably beyond the measure intended to tighten up the unification of the three services, which is now before the senate committee.

The bill would make the chairmanship of the joint chiefs of staff now held temporarily by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower "a permanent job," the chairman said.

Louisiana Firm Low Bid on Lafayette Work

New Orleans, April 13 —(P)—M. E. Pollard, Bossier City, La., was apparent low bidder here yesterday for levee repairs and setbacks along the Red river in Lafayette County, Ark.

The Pollard bid was $106,500. U. S. Engineers said all 12 bids received were considerably above their estimate of $87,151.45.

All bids were taken under advisement.

By HAY BOYLE
New York, April 13 —(P)—To Harry S. Truman, Blair House, Washington D. C.

Dear Mr. President:

I have a small free idea to help you win world peace.

You aren't planning to have the annual Easter egg rolling party for children on the White House lawn this year. But why not hold an international egg rolling contest?

They'd love it. Great men love games as much as children, but their games often leave people crying at the end. Such as war. An ancient sport of kings. Why not give the great men a simple game they can play in pure fun.

Alert the fly boys of your air force. Send your new B-36 bombers East and West and North and South to all the lands of the earth. Have them bring back the leaders of those lands, large or little—the victors, the vanquished, the bystanders.

If you hurry, you can get some here by Friday. Then tell them: "This is the day our own Prince of Peace died for mankind. And Sunday is the anniversary of the day he rose again, and thereby gave us hope. I want you to celebrate it with us in the way of our people."

"This is the day our own Prince of Peace died for mankind. And Sunday is the anniversary of the day he rose again, and thereby gave us hope. I want you to celebrate it with us in the way of our people."

Well, Harry, boys are boys. You might have to warn them that anybody caught making horse trades on the back steps would be ducked in the White House pool. But I think they'd go along with a vacation from worry these days.

Show 'em a good time. Stack the joint with caviar, ham, lamb, beef and both dog sandwiches. Pass around the bourbon and vodka, the wine and pernod. Bring them all in the kitchen Saturday night. Make 'em stay up late dyeing Easter eggs. And dye the eggs with patterns of their own countries and their heroes.

After they fall asleep, let the Secretary of State know.

Moon Disappears for Full Hour Tuesday Night for First Time in 100 Years

New York, April 13 —(P)—The moon made astronomical history last night.

It disappeared—for an hour. Scientists said the "black eclipse" was the first one like it here in more than 100 years.

The event also chalked up another 20th-century milestone—the advent of drawing-room sky-gazing. The solar spectacle was piped into thousands of homes via television.

It appeared on screens in bars and taverns too, and touched off gripe by those who preferred the more lively boxing and wrestling programs.

"It ain't proper," said one Times Square bar patron. "If anybody wants to see the moon, he ought to go outdoors."

That of many did.

The top of Empire State building was jammed as the moon slid into the shadow of the earth, and gradually became invisible.

Others stood in the streets and on rooftops to watch the show.

The phenomenon could be seen on half the earth's surface—wherever it was night at the time it occurred.

Authorities at Hayden planetarium said that, as viewed in New York, the moon was completely blacked out, whereas in a normal full eclipse it shines with a dull red glow.

The last time a "black eclipse" took place was in 1844, the planetarium said. There have been several full eclipses of the moon since then, the last one in 1945, but none of them black.

In a normal eclipse, the earth is squarely between the moon and the sun. But while the moon is in a shadow, it retains a dull glow from sun rays that bounce from the earth's atmosphere, the planetarium said.

"In a 'black eclipse,' the planetarium added, an unusual cloud blanket surrounding part of the earth's surface prevents the refracted rays from reaching the moon, thus obliterating it from view."

The sky in the New York area was as dark as the earth's shadow touched the moon at 9:28 a.m. (EST), and darkened it at 10:28 p.m. (EST). The moon began to emerge at 11:54 p.m.

The National Broadcasting Company's East Coast television network carried pictures of the event from cameras set up on the roof of the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia.

The television cameras were focused through powerful telescopes.

Television Station WPIX in New York also carried the sky show, using telescopic equipment of the Hayden planetarium.

For anybody living on the moon, the show would have been a spectacular one, with or without television sets. For them, the earth would have been a black ball, with a shimmering corona—caused by the sun's rays—around its periphery.

Peace Reigns at New York College

New York, April 13 —(P)—Peace now reigns over the campus of the College of the City of New York, where student strikers staged a near-riot two days ago.

Easter and Passover vacations, starting today, will bring a five-day freedom from picketing.

Fifty pickets from ranks of night school students joined last night in the demonstration against two faculty members the strikers accused of racial bias.

Absenteeism at classes last night ranged from ten to 33 per cent, college authorities said.

Students at C. C. N. Y. branches off the campus have not joined the strike.

Carnival spirit prevailed yesterday as 300 students picketed with a spring fever manner.

College spokesmen said about 1,500 of the 7,200 day students yesterday away from classes yesterday, but strike leaders claimed 65 per cent were absent. There are 5,833 night school students.

The strike—sponsored by the student council—is directed against Prof. William E. Knickerbocker, head of the romance languages department, whom the demonstrators accuse of anti-semitism; and William C. Davis, an economics instructor, accused of white-Negro segregation in a dormitory.

The charges already have gone through official investigation, and the C. C. N. Y. president, Dr. Harry N. Wright, has not yielded to the strikers' demands for immediate open trials and removal of the two men.

Prices Are Cut on Bendix Washers at Hamm Store

Best selling Bendix automatic washer models were reduced in price up to 10 per cent according to Harvey Holt of Hamm Tire & Appliance Co.

The Gramatic model was reduced $34.95, from $229.95 to $295. The Gramatic with soap injector came down from $349.95 to $319.95. Prices on the other Bendix washers remained unchanged.

"The American housewife is looking to industry for relief from high prices," said Mr. Holt, "and we are confident that these new low prices by Bendix will help many women in this city to acquire automatic laundry facilities for their homes."

Sincerely, Hal Hoyle.

Funds Sought for Arkansas River Control

Washington, April 13 —(P)—Money to finance the overall Arkansas river development plan was sought here yesterday by an Arkansas delegation.

The delegation appeared before a senate appropriations subcommittee headed by Senator McClellan (D-Ark.) to ask that congress provide funds to start the work rolling.

The combined navigation-flood control-power project has been authorized. No construction funds have been voted except for scattered individual flood control works which fit into the plan.

The delegation plugged for these specific projects which it said would provide a start on the plan in the state:

1. The Dardanelle flood control and navigation dam on the Arkansas river, $1,100,000.

2. Bank stabilization on the river in Arkansas, $2,000,000.

3. The Morrilton cutoff on the river, $3,000,000.

Emmett Sanders, Pine Bluff, in support of the proposed $2,000,000 for bank stabilization work, mentioned several "critical" spots where the river threatens valuable areas.

These, and the cost estimates he gave, include:

McKadden bar above Pine Bluff, $311,000; Johnson Lake below Pine Bluff, $300,000; and Richland Bend, $500,000.

Sanders also said 45 miles of the north Arkansas river bank from Roby Roy to the Mississippi river is four to six feet below the height elsewhere. This, he said, presents a "serious danger" in the area in event of a flood.

Hope Men Give Millwood Hearing Report

George Peck, Vincent Foster and Edward Lester returned to Hope on Tuesday from a week's trip to Washington where they appeared before the Senate Sub-Committee on Civil Functions Appropriations.

The Senate Committee held public hearings on Monday on the appropriations of $150,000 for final plans and survey work on the proposed Millwood Dam and Reservoir to be located North of Fulton, Tenn.

Testimony before the committee was given by the economic justification for the expenditure of one million dollars on levy work along the Red River Basin and a $25,000 emergency appropriation for a bank stabilization project at Fulton was also presented.

The $150,000 appropriation for the Millwood Dam and Reservoir plan had previously been approved by the Director of the Budget and passed the House. No testimony was presented in opposition to the Millwood plan.

Little Rock appeared before the committee as a representative of thirty civic groups from Soviet County and Southeastern Oklahoma and stated that an agreement between the proposed plan for the Millwood Dam and Reservoir and landowners had been reached. Col. Burdick requested that the Committee make available an additional $50,000 to the U. S. Corps of Engineers in order that a full survey of sites for upstream reservoirs could be made.

Representatives from the U. S. Corps of Engineers stated to the Committee that the requested appropriations would enable them to complete a full survey work on the Millwood Reservoir and also to determine the economic feasibility of a series of upstream reservoirs.

Mr. Peck, Chairman of the Arkansas Division of the Red River Valley Association, made the following statement: "While in Washington a workable agreement with the proponents of a series of upstream reservoirs on the tributaries of Little River was reached. No agreement was reached on the proposed plan for the Millwood Dam and Reservoir."

Mr. Foster appeared before the Committee as Secretary-Treasurer and Mr. Lester as attorney for the Arkansas Division of the Red River Valley Association.

Renfro Found Not Guilty By Jury

Leslie Renfro, of Prescott, was found "not guilty" by a Hempstead Circuit Court jury yesterday after a six-day trial.

Mr. Renfro was charged with the murder of an automobile accident earlier this year near Hope in which two negroes were killed.

Johnny Green, paroled Negro convict of Ashdown, plead guilty to the murder of the two negroes. He was sentenced to four years each on two counts, and a total of 15 years on the other two counts with the latter sentence suspended.

McPadden, plea of guilty to grand larceny, 3 years suspended sentence.

Donald R. Ross, false pretense, committed to state hospital for one year.

Memphis Mops Up After Downpour

Memphis, April 13 (AP)—Memphis mopped up today after a downpour of almost five inches of rain that drove 10 families from their homes yesterday.

The rain flooded several railroad underpasses, isolated some areas temporarily, and swept into numbers of floor furnaces and basements.

Some city buses were halted temporarily and other rerouted over higher streets.

Two boats supplied by the air force rescued 19 families near the airport. Planes continued to operate through an adjacent road was flooded and several inches of water covered parts of the field.

Across the river in West Memphis, Ark., an estimated 50 per cent of the streets were partially covered by water, with some sections almost isolated. Backwater in the section just north of Highway 70 for about three blocks square was up to the running board on cars and some residents were wearing hip boots to get in and out of their houses.

Equal Exchange

In primitive societies, the taking of interest for the loan of goods or services rendered, in transactions between members of the same community, was unknown. All that was expected was the return of similar goods or services.

Only 30 adult bloodhounds are reported left in England.

Socialism Is Flayed in Kiwanis Talk

The American way of life is under attack by skillful propagandists, Glenn A. Green of Little Rock, executive director of the Arkansas Free Enterprise association, told Hope Kiwanis club at its noon luncheon Tuesday.

Mr. Green, introduced by Talbot Feild, Jr., said in part: "Private enterprise and the profit motive constitute the very essence of our capitalist system. Yet today, our population is being flooded with distorted information accompanied by yammering, bold declarations or cunning suggestions that our capitalist system of free enterprise is outmoded, utterly incapable of meeting the needs of our progressing civilization."

"Millions of our people are falling victims of the delusion that you can get something for nothing. A voting majority of the people of England got completely sold on this idea three years ago and British Socialism is the result. Without the Marshall Plan aid going to England from this old-fashioned, outmoded capitalist nation, Socialist England would today be totally bankrupt and in state of economic and social chaos."

"Out in Oregon and California the people voted last November 2 on the age pension propositions. This new plan will cost the taxpayers of Oregon 75 million dollars in new taxes in 1949. In California the new pension is bigger. It will cost the taxpayers 125 million."

"These pensions are something the workers have not made and saved for themselves."

"Ninety-four and five-tenths per cent of our nation's tremendous income in wages and salaries goes to families in the lowest income group — $5,000 and lower; in the other words, to the 'common man,' debts and interest on stocks and bonds and interest on the dividends and notes goes not to the Wall Street Tycoons but to this same lower income group."

"The landlords of America are by and large the common folks. Ninety per cent of all the rentals on property collected in the United States are on properties owned by the people in the lowest income group $5,000 and under."

"All of the people in America whose incomes are $25,000 or more, including the 'Economic Royalists' and the 'Gluttons of Privilege' and the many thousands of professionals and executives and owners of sizeable businesses — this big upper middle class, well-to-do and wealthy group has a total income, as a matter of fact, of just 1.3 per cent of the national income."

"This is America. This is free enterprise. This is the kind of distribution of wealth, without resort to arbitrary governmental authority and regimentation, that the capitalists system has given a free and vigorous people with the incentive to work."

Served 28 Years of Life Term Asks Freedom

Rockford, Ill., April 13 (UP)—Calogero Goscio, who has served 28 years of a life term for murder, claimed innocence in a petition for freedom today and said he believed when sent to prison that he was being held only as a witness.

He said he was under that impression until another prisoner told him he had been sentenced to life.

Boscio, now 66, was sentenced for the fatal stabbing of Frank Farce, July 9, 1920, after a card game fight near South Beloit, Ill. He was sent to Joliet Nov. 27, 1920.

Circuit Judge William R. Dushier said he would study Boscio's habeas corpus petition and then rule whether he should be returned here for a hearing.

In his petition, Boscio denied that he was involved in the killing, and said he believed at the time that he was held only as a witness. He claimed he was denied an interpreter, and could not read, speak, or sums of money, but bought her birthday and anniversary presents, "just like any other husband."

She said her husband left home nearly every weekend, telling her he was on business trips. He told the same story to wife No. 2, police said.

Mrs. Prager No. 1 indicated she planned a divorce.

"What else can I do?" she asked. Meantime, 19-year-old wife No. 2 headed for Memphis from Los Angeles to "see what I can do to help."

"I can hardly believe it, even now," she said. "And I was so sure he had divorced his wife. He told me so."

Woman Wants Father for Eight Children

Salt Lake City, April 13 (UP)—Mrs. Elena Lebaron, 30, a comedienne, appealed publicly today for a husband who likes children. She has eight of them.

Mrs. Lebaron, blue-eyed and slender, asked the Salt Lake City Telegram to help her find a husband. A divorcee, she said she has been unable to keep the wolf from the door.

She has been getting no alimony payments, she said, and can't support her horde of children on relief.

"I need a husband," she told the newspaper, "but he's got to be my kind of man."

She gave these qualifications: "He should be between 30 and 40 years of age, at least six feet tall, have literary tastes and like music—non-operatic, that is."

Mrs. Lebaron said it would make no difference to her if a prospective suitor turns up with children, himself, even if he has a dozen or more.

But if he has none at all, Mrs. Lebaron said she might like "to try for 18 of my own, if he's the right man."

Her own eight range in age from understand English when he was arrested.

Boscio said he was only an onlooker at the card game. He said one of the players drew a knife in an argument, but that he fled and did not know anyone had been stabbed until his arrest a few hours later.

Boscio also charged that Daniel G. Torissi, Beloit, Wis., police detective, beat him while he was questioned. Boscio's attorney said at the trial that his confession was obtained only because he was beaten.

would be top military adviser to the president and secretary of defense.

Both Royall and Symington gave that their complete backing.

As now set up the joint chiefs must make decisions by unanimous vote. Royall called that an "absurdity" and Symington's testimony went further.

"One member of the joint chiefs of staff," the air secretary said, four months to 12 years. They are well behaved, she said, and they want a new daddy.

Mrs. Lebaron had other husband specifications. She said men who drink too much could save themselves the trouble of applying.

Although she did specify the tall, intellectual type, she said she would be more concerned with the inner man than with outward appearances.

In return, Mrs. Lebaron offered a four-room cottage, on which she is three payments behind. She also offered her talents as a housekeeper and mother.

The living room of the Wright home was beautifully decorated with white and yellow iris at vantage points. The mantel held a lovely arrangement of bridal wreath.

The hostesses presented Miss Henley with a corsage of pink and white carnations. During the evening, many interesting games were enjoyed and prizes were won by Mrs. Max Kitchens of Emmet, Mrs. Elmer Murph and Miss Hazel Amlett.

The honoree received many lovely and useful gifts in a large decorated white basket.

The guests were then invited into the dining room. The credenza held an oblong vase of white and purple iris flanked on either side by ornamental vases. The bride's table was centered with a beautiful arrangement of pink Bougainvillea, which surrounded the bride's table. Miniature bridesmaid dolls also decorated the table. Pink candles in double crystal holders lighted the table.

Russia Renews Offer to Lift Blockade

London, April 23 — (P) — A diplomatic informant said today Russia has recently renewed her offer to lift the Berlin blockade if Big Four talks on Germany are resumed.

Such an offer, however, would not materially affect the Berlin situation, since the allies have insisted all along that the blockade must be lifted first before any big four talks on Germany. The Russians have insisted on calling the four-power conference first.

The informant, a specialist in German affairs, declined to be identified, even by nationality. He did not say where the newest approach was made, but presumably it was in Berlin.

The informant said that the Russians have had feelers out for the last six weeks or so about possible negotiation with the West over the German question. He said one such approach was made by the Poles to the Western powers hoping they would react to ending the blockade under certain conditions, which the informant did not detail.

Russia imposed the Berlin blockade last June.

Whether there was anything new added to the Russian approach the informant did not say.

The last four-power foreign ministers' meeting—in London early in 1948—broke down mainly on the question of German reparations. Recently, Prime Minister Stalin linked the Soviet blockade of Berlin with Western power moves for a separate government for Western Germany. The West already has announced an occupation statute—a substitute peace treaty—for Western Germany to permit it to adopt a constitution.

Tanker, Freighter Collide in Fog Burn Five Hours

Marcus Hook, Pa., April 13 — (P) — A tanker and a freighter collided in heavy fog in the Delaware bay early today. Fire burned fiercely aboard the ships for five hours before being brought under control. There were no casualties.

The ships that rammed into each other were the 13,000-ton oil tanker Pennsylvania Sun and the freighter American Attorney, a 7,607-ton freighter.

The Sun Oil company, owners of the oil tanker, reported the crash took place about 1 a. m. (central standard time) and the fire was under control at 6 a. m.

DOROTHY DIX Bossy Husband

Dear Miss Dix: Of late my husband has been showing more of ten and more forcibly that he is the master of the house; that women should be obedient and subordinate; and, that no matter what anyone says, women do not have equal rights with men. Recently he drove for three months with an expired driver's license just because I asked him to get mine at the same time he got his.

speech goes a constant complaint. Along with the "masterful" speech goes a constant complaint and bossiness regarding my housework and the care of our child. Our marriage is hanging by a very thin thread, for his actions anger me to the point of desperation. What shall I do? You advice will be appreciated.

MRS. B.E.H.
Answer: Probably there is no other man in the world who is at once so ridiculous and so contemptible as the one who builds up his own egotism by treating all women as imbeciles, good only to serve their lords and masters. Such men deride the opinions of all women. They profess to believe that all women are congenital idiots, and when you call their attention to the fact that there are famous women politicians and lawyers and doctors and writers and musicians and whatnot, they simply shrug their shoulders, as much as to say that anyone who doesn't know that all women are fools is a fool himself.

Build Self-Esteem
Apparently it never occurs to these women-baiters that they build up their self-esteem by belittling women. When, for instance you meet a man whose fund of dinner party stories consists in his telling about the do-funny hat his wife bought, or the time she forgot the baby, or when she asked a foolish question, you don't have to be told that he is trying to build up his reputation as a wit at his wife's expense. He hasn't a funny bone in his body and wouldn't know a joke unless his wife pointed it out to him.

The men with big hearts and big brains don't have to make show-offs of themselves. They don't have to make dornats of their wives. And they are wise enough to know that in marriage we only get happiness when we give happiness.

What a woman should do who is married to one of these Superior Peas is nobly now, but, at any rate, she is entitled to a rising vote of sympathy.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have been working since before I was married and, frankly, I am tired of it, especially as I have a little son who needs my attention. It is getting to a point where I can see no advantage to a girl being married, having a family, yet having to be a bread-winner too.

My husband gripes because my work takes so much of my time; but when I ask him if he thinks I should quit my job he says no. What should I do?

B. A.
Answer: A woman who has a husband and a child, and has to be 26 and wish very much to get married, but I have never yet found any girl whom I really want to feel the first pang of love. Wait until you have a real, genuine, heart attack that leaves you in no doubt about your symptoms. Give the girls a chance.

of an optimistic turn of mind, for it is more than likely that instead of being able to sit down on the do-nothing stool after she gets married she will have to support a husband who was born with that tired feeling.

If you married for love, it is worth the price. If you married for a meal ticket, you lose out. Love is the only thing that pays dividends in marriage.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a man of 26 and wish very much to get married, but I have never yet found any girl whom I really want to feel the first pang of love. Wait until you have a real, genuine, heart attack that leaves you in no doubt about your symptoms. Give the girls a chance.

Charles Dickens visited the United States in 1842.

JOHN
Answer: If you were 46 instead of 26 and were still heart whole and fancy free, I should say lead the lady to the altar, even if she does not arouse any thrills in you. You are not of the sentimental type and what you need is a good cook more than you do a soul-mate. But at 26 you are just beginning to feel the first pang of love. Wait until you have a real, genuine, heart attack that leaves you in no doubt about your symptoms. Give the girls a chance.

Taxicab Driver Admits Rape of Young Girl

Blytheville, April 13—(AP)—A part-time taxicab driver who officers say admitted abducting and raping an eight-year-old girl was held without bond today.

Sheriff William Berryman said Hollis Edward Needham, 26, of Blytheville related entering a house here early Sunday, and, without disturbing others, taking the sleeping child to his taxicab, where he attacked her.

Needham waived a preliminary hearing in municipal court yesterday and was held to circuit court. Prosecutor H. G. Partlow said he would file information against Needham today.

Berryman said Needham told him he went to the house looking for a one-time woman friend. After attacking the girl, Needham said he let her out of the cab and told her to "go home," Berryman reported.

Needham was traced to Hattiesburg, Miss., and arrested after bloodstains were found in the cab he had been driving. Berryman said. Needham was employed as an extra driver.
